Many Parents Make Mis-

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 20.—A small boy of eight early developed the ambition to become a scientific farmer. His parents, who had only a very moderate income, talked to him seriously about the subject, explaining that if he ever wanted to go to college he would have to earn the money himself. Accordingly, the ambitious 8-year-old started delivering periodicals throughout the office buildings of the city in which he lived, serving a large list of customers. At the end of the first month he opened a savings account in a local bank, and thereafter made regular deposits. Last fall, at the age of 15, he entered an agricultural college, the expense of which was covered by his bank account, leaving his periodical route to his small brother.

An Example

This boy was undoubtedly made of good stuff, and he was also precocious beyond his years, or he never would have been able to begin his college career at the age of 15. But this instance serves to illustrate what may be done with the youthful savings.

The importance of saving money has been dwelt upon with great emphasis in the present propaganda for national preparedness. It is pointed out that if it had not been for the habitual thrift of the European nations they could never have borrowed sufficient capital to carry on the war. The American people are being made to see the error of their former extravagance, and a widespread movement is on foot for teaching economy, aided by the banks and financiers of the country.

Since the children are the future citizens, they are being taught the principles of thrift and of saving money. Lecturers are addressing large audiences of parents in various parts of the country the Bureau of Education has lent support to the movement, and parent-teachers associations everywhere are discussing the subject of youthful economy. The school savings bank, a prominent feature of European education, introduced into this country in 1898, has gained in popularity and is now being adopted by many schools which heretofore hardly knew of its existence.

Taught to Spend

But the children are not only being taught to save money; they are being taught how to spend it. There is a difference between penury and thrift. The latter is a habit; the former an obsession, which is just as much to be avoided as extravagance in an aggravated form. In instructing the kiddies, therefore, it should be made clear that the accumulation of money is not an object in itself, but the means to an object. If a boy wants a pair of skates, or a basketball, or a tennis racket, or a college education when he grows up, he is usually willing to make sacrifices, such as abstaining from candy and marbles, to get the things he wants, but there is, and should be, little incentive to put money away in the bank—simply to put it there. There is nothing interesting or particularly worthy in the act itself unless it is a means to an end.

The greatest value of the savings account to the child lies in the fact that he has earned the money himself, and it therefore rightfully belongs to him and to no one else.

French Newspapers Assume

TO VERDUN OR SOMEWHERE ELSE?
Belief Is Slavs Will Be Sent to Help Defenders of Fort or to Help in Allied Offensive

PARIS, April 20.—Russian troops were landed at the French port of Marseilles today to join the allied troops in operations against the Germans on the continent.

This sensational announcement was made simultaneously with publication of an army order of the day issued by General Joffre, sending best wishes to the first detachment of soldiers of the czar to fight on French soil since the beginning of the war. The censor thus far has permitted no details as to numbers to be published, but the French newspapers assume that the Russians were landed in large forces. They assume also that they will be rushed into action either at Verdun or on some other sector of the western front where the allies may be contemplating a great offensive.

Well known Russian officers, General Joffre stated in the order of the day, are in command of the Russian soldiers debarked at Marseilles and the czar's forces are composed of troops especially picked for their bravery. Russia sent the troops to France, he stated, as further proof of her devotion to the French cause.

By what route the Russians reached Marseilles is known only to officials of the war office and ministry of marine. It is assumed, however, that their transportation to France was decided on at the recent general conference of the allies in Paris.

No news in many weeks has so electrified the French capital as the brief bulletins passed by the censor this afternoon. Newspapers containing practically nothing but headlines were eagerly grabbed up in the boulevards, and crowds besieged the newspaper offices for more news.

Russian troops could only be transported to France by a long journey from Alexandrovsk, on the White sea, since the port of Archangel is not yet open. The transports would have to encounter danger from German submarine attacks. Early in the war there were rumors that large bodies of Russian troops had passed through England enroute to France, but these reports were later proven untrue.

Archangel Harbor Closed

The Russian port Archangel, at the southeastern end of the White sea, was still blocked by ice ten days ago and ships could not leave the harbor.

If the Russian troops embarked for the expedition to France at the warm water port of Alexandrovsk, 750 miles north of Petrograd, they must have passed through the Arctic ocean, thence southward through the North sea and around Gibraltar into the Mediterranean to Marseilles, a voyage of about 4,000 miles. If, on the contrary they were embarked at Vladivostok, on the Pacific, they must have traveled more than 12,000 miles or half way around the globe.

In recent operations in Greece, a party of marines from the Russian cruiser Askold joined with the allies in a landing exhibition near Salonika. It is barely possible that the Russian force landed at Marseilles today consisted only of marines from the Askold, known to be in the Pacific and that reports in Paris newspapers of landing of "strong Russian forces" were circulated for their effect on Germany and neutrals.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Carranzista troops are on the move southward from Chihuahua, official advice said today. Their number and the object were not revealed. They were said to be headed in the direction of Parral, where American soldiers and residents recently clashed.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., April 20.—

The lull in the American expedition continued today when officers at Fort Sam Houston prepared a detailed report on the entire expeditionary situation, to be presented to Chief of Staff Scott, when he arrives at San Antonio, Friday.

In the meantime, General Pershing reported to Major General Funston that several columns of cavalry will be turned back from Namiquipa soon to resume the pursuit of Villa when Pershing completes concentration of supplies at Namiquipa.

Two companies of infantry today were enroute to relieve troops at Eagle Pass for service in Mexico.

To Plan Withdrawal?

WASHINGTON, April 20.—To lay the groundwork for withdrawal of American forces from Mexico is believed here to be the object of the trip to the border on which Chief of Staff Scott departed last night.

General Scott's trip is generally assigned to the fact that the Villa hunt is at a standstill, to manifestations that General Funston wants enlargement of the expedition, and to the fact that the recent Parral battle showed on what touchy ground the chase rests.

Officially, Scott is to canvass the situation and report to Secretary Baker who has felt the need of an intimate, word-of-mouth account of conditions.

General Funston's long message Monday night, still in mystery—is believed to have inspired the journey. Scott is due at San Antonio headquarters tomorrow night. He probably will be back here in a week or ten days with recommendations that may radically change the situation.

General Carranza's suggestions for withdrawal of troops has not been answered. It probably will be soon.

Ambassador Arredondo declares he has not demanded on behalf of his government immediate withdrawal and that he has not received instructions to press the state department for an immediate reply to Carranza's suggestions.

Both horses and men near Parral need new shoes. Secretary Baker was advised today. He thought perhaps they were resting up in that vicinity while this trouble was remedied, inasmuch as he had no reports of activities for several days.

A wagon train left here today over a new and more direct route to the Dublan base. The old trail has been cut to pieces by the heavy motor truck traffic.

SEVENTEEN THOUGHT DEAD

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 19.—Seventeen persons are reported dead and nearly 100 injured by tornadoes which swept three distinct areas in Kansas and Missouri last night.

Property damage in southeastern Kansas, southwestern and central Missouri is said to be enormous. Wires are demoralized and details are meagre.

Six are reported killed in Stover, Missouri, with the town laid in ruins by a tornado. A special train carried relief to the injured there.

A Mrs. Miller and a baby of the Hixon family near Fort Scott, Kas., were killed when their home was destroyed.

Elmer Packard of Enterprise, Kas., was killed when his motor car, in which he was trying to outrun the storm, overturned, pinning him beneath it.

Unconfirmed Dispatch Says

geance on Gringos

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, April 20.—That American troops were ambushed by Mexicans while passing through Bachi-neva last week, was revealed today in a report from General Pershing, in the field, to Major General Funston.

No mention was made by Funston of the consequences of the fight. Funston refused to make the entire communication from Pershing public. He said, however, that the detachment commanded by Major Howze was attacked by citizens from the rear near Bachi-neva, after the troops had passed through Bachi-neva. Funston stated Howze was unable to punish the offenders owing to the conditions governing the expedition's conduct.

Pershing's report stated he had "ample evidence against one Mexican." Pershing's report, Funston admitted, revealed instances of hostility by Carranzistas. It was mailed from Satevo last Saturday.

All the expeditionary troops are now north of Satevo, Funston said. In this connection he gave out a portion of Pershing's report describing conditions south of that point, and declaring further campaigning impossible under present plans. Even natives are starving. The American troops, Pershing said, suffer from a scarcity of water. The cavalry horses suffered also from lack of fodder and there was no grass into which they could be turned for grazing.

DEATH TO GRINGOS

EL PASO, Texas, April 20.—This unconfirmed dispatch was received from Torreon yesterday: "Carranzista troops were employed Tuesday in dispersing crowds that had gathered for an anti-American demonstration. 'Proclamations had been issued in Torreon, Laredo and Gomez Palacio calling on 'all loyal Mexicans' to meet in the theater at Gomez Palacio to discuss steps to be taken against the American invaders."

Death to Gringos, Cry
The proclamations ended with the words: 'Viva Mexico and death to the gringos.'

British Vice Consul O'Hea promptly reported the circumstance to General Trevino, who immediately took command of the situation."

NEW YORK, April 20.—Emma Goldman, anarchist leader who was backed by prominent New York women in her advocacy of open discussion of birth control methods, was convicted in special sessions court this afternoon of violating laws prohibiting dissemination of such information. She is the first person convicted in the district attorney's fight on the birth control movement.

The testimony of two policemen convicted Miss Goldman. They swore that they heard a birth control lecture attended by many society and clubwomen and that Miss Goldman's statements were "obscene."

BERLIN, April 20.—Capture of six hundred yards of British trenches between Ypres and Langemarck was announced by the German war office this afternoon. The Germans took 109 prisoners and two machine guns. French troops suffered heavy losses in an attack on German positions in Caillette forest northeast of Verdun, the war office announced. The attack was repulsed.

Intense artillery activity was reported along the Meuse and in the Woëvre region.

French Capture Armored Work
PARIS, April 20.—French troops captured a well fortified German work in a violent attack last night northwest of Vaux, the war office announced this afternoon, taking 200 prisoners and much booty.

Otherwise there was no important fighting around Verdun last night. On the west bank of the Meuse there was reciprocal bombardment.

ADVANCED BASE NEAR SATEVO, April 15.—Via Aeroplane and Motor Truck to Columbus, N. M., April 20.—The fight in the Parral plaza during which an American machine gun platoon quickly scattered a Mexican mob was only the beginning of usual sniping warfare encountered by the United States forces in all Mexican cities . . . (deleted by censor).

The Americans were given a clean bill of health in the Parral incident by War Minister Obregon. His official statement, printed in El Democrita, of Chihuahua, absolved the United States troops. The statement was concurred in by the Parral officials.

That the attack on American soldiers was unprovoked is shown in official reports to General Pershing stating the troopers emphasized their peaceful mission by wearing only their pistols. (Deleted by censor.) A stone suddenly whizzed out of the crowd of Mexicans. Another and another followed. Several found marks. Still the United States soldiers made no move toward their revolvers.

A revolver shot rang out from the Mexican mob. It was the signal for a fusillade. One of the American soldiers fell dead. (Deleted.) The deadly marksmanship and cool courage of the American troops drove them back. A machine gun platoon rushed to the fore and in a twinkling the death dealing typewriters began to sing. The mob melted and rushed pell-mell into the shelter of side streets.

PARIS IS PLEASED
(By William Philip Summs.)

PARIS, April 20.—The world's greatest battle at Verdun, only 135 miles from the French capital, suddenly took second place in public interest today with arrival of dispatches reporting President Wilson's speech.

The president's strong stand won instant and unanimous approval here. That portion of his speech referring to his fight to uphold the principles of humanity was applauded as one of the finest utterances heard in any capital since the war began.

The text of the American note to Germany had not been received here early today, though it was expected to follow the lines laid down in the president's speech. French officials who read the cabled excerpts would not speculate for publication on Germany's probable course of action.

NATION AND STATE ACT

DURING GERMAN CRISIS

ALBANY, N. Y., April 20

—New York state is today being quietly and completely prepared for any outbreak or demonstration that may occur as a result of President Wilson's note to Germany. The action is being taken following a conference of Governor Whitman, Arthur Woods, police commissioner of New York city; Major General John O'Ryan, and Adjutant General Stotesbury. Though each refused to say just what was determined on, it is understood the move is more to apprehend cranks than in fear of a general demonstration of hostility.

Word is quietly going the rounds of the national guardsmen instructing them as to co-operation with the police, and the latter have been coached to especial vigilance in their watch of the water front, government buildings, the subways, the under-river tubes and the East river bridges, Brooklyn, Manhattan and Williamsburg.

GUARD WIRELESS

WASHINGTON, April 20.—That marines had been ordered to guard the big German owned wireless stations at Tuckerton, N. J., and Sayville, L. I., was officially admitted today.

The reason was not announced, but it was suggested the move was made both to protect the stations from any anti-German demonstration and to permit of American seizure of them in case of a break with Germany.

Secretary Daniels explained today that one or two marines have been kept at both stations for some time. As for the increase in excess of caution—"to have a few more than we need."

The marines will not seize the stations, he added.

No steps have been taken by the navy department in the matter of additional watchfulness over German vessels in United States ports, he said.

BERLIN, April 19.—(Delayed.)—The German newspapers comment guardedly on the German-American crisis—the text of the note which is understood to be enroute to Berlin, having not yet reached Ambassador Gerard.

The Frankfurter Zeitung makes a pointed answer to the charge of the Cologne Volks-Zeitung that President Wilson bothers Germany with a demand for an examination of all her U boat commanders every time an English vessel is sunk.

"When a ship is sunk with the loss of American lives, there is nothing for the American government to do," said the Frankfurter Zeitung, "but turn to the warring powers to ask what information they can supply on the matter. This procedure is far from being an assumption of inquisitorial powers or an attempt to sit in judgment on the method of German warfare at sea."

The Berlin Zeitung declares that Germany will listen respectfully to any statement President Wilson may make, but will not allow the American president to define for Germany's benefit the expression "principles of humanity."

BY CARL W. ACKERMAN

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

BERLIN, April 20.—President Wilson's note to Germany reached the American embassy at 11 o'clock this morning, though one section is still missing. Ambassador Gerard expects to deliver the note to Foreign Secretary Von Jagow this afternoon.

Early today an important confidential message reached the embassy from Washington. It enjoined absolute silence on Ambassador Gerard and Secretary Grew.

BY ROBERT J. BENDER

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, April 20.—German Ambassador Von Bernstorff discussed today the possibility of averting a break between Germany and the United States. The conference lasted twenty-five minutes.

The ambassador obtained the secretary's views on steps necessary to make Germany's submarine campaign conform to this country's ideas of international law and humanity.

Although the ambassador refused to comment on the talk which he said was entirely "confidential" it is understood that as a result of the conference he does not take a hopeless view of the situation. It is known Secretary Lansing was given good reason to believe that another incident such as the Sussex disaster will not occur while the present negotiations are being conducted.

It was pointed out to Lansing that since the United States has asked for a distinct change of policy in German submarine warfare there will naturally have to be numerous conferences of officials in Berlin.

The ambassador believed today he would not have long to wait for word from Berlin regarding steps he should take in the situation.

Reiterate Demands

At the state department today, it was reiterated that Germany's present orders to submarine commanders must be withdrawn and undersea attacks confined to warships, pending any determination of a new plan of operation against merchant shipping.

That is the clear intent of the demand now made on Germany. The ambassador may be expected to suggest limitations such as placed on

ART NOTES

In a recent number of The Minnesota is an article by Mr. Allen D. Albert upon the asset value of art to the state of Minnesota. By substituting the word "Wisconsin" for "Minnesota" the article is equally pertinent for the people on this side of the river. The writer would like to adopt a part of it for the TRIBUNE readers.

Just Suppose
Suppose the state of Wisconsin should institute an industrial art program, and spend the equal of the amount of money that Minnesota spends yearly to prevent hog cholera, or that Wisconsin spends for the same and similar purposes. Suppose this same program should correlate this "Old World Art Heritage." Suppose the women and girls throughout the rural districts, yes, even in the cities and villages were given an opportunity to ply their handicrafts.

SUPERIOR CAR FARE BOOSTED BY COMMISSION

MADISON, Wis., April 20.—(Special.)—Superior will be benefited in street car improvements to the extent of nearly $125,000 as the result of the order of the Wisconsin railroad commission today rescinding the previous order of the commission for lower street car fares made Nov. 13, 1912.

"The respondent it appears has reached the stage when improvements in the service, especially extensions, are required," says the decision. "There has been relatively only a small increase in the track mileage for the last twelve years, or since 1904, while the population, it is estimated has increased 30 per cent and passenger traffic in the neighborhood of 80 per cent during that time."

The commission points out that prudence would indicate that the public would desire improvements sooner than a decrease of railroad fare. Extensions would be impossible unless the reduced fare order were rescinded. The commission then orders the order rescinded on the understanding that the above improvements are to be made.

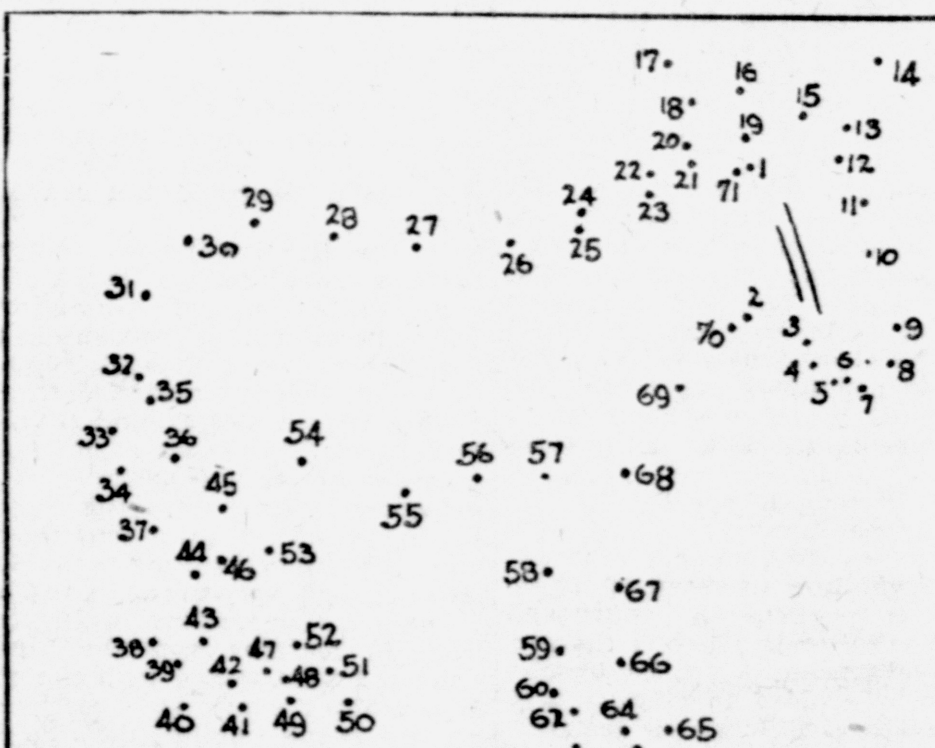

The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the coils which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying powers are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them willfully with narcotics.

Castoria contains no narcotics if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

The Searchlight
Chemical Analysis of Liquor
The Searchlight is a new method of chemical analysis of liquor. It is a simple, reliable, and accurate method of determining the purity of liquor. It is a valuable tool for the chemist and the public alike.

UTILIZING TANNERY WASTES
Thousands of dollars worth of valuable chemicals might be recovered annually as a by-product in the tanneries of the United States. From 100 to 400 gallons of liquor results from the tanning of each hide. Chemical tests demonstrate that these tannery liquids are well worth treating for the recovery of their solid content. They contain nitrogen, phosphoric acid and lime, the very substances of which agriculturists are deploring the lack. The Bureau of Chemistry is advocating the disposal of these undried sludges to the farmers who will find them of greater fertilizing value than barn yard manure.

Shakespeare was but 18 years old when he was betrothed to Anne Hathaway.

THE NATION'S PEACE HANGS IN BALANCE

To question the gravity of the situation which has arisen between the United States and Germany would be childish. We face the menace of war. Only the improbable—that Germany will cease sub-sea warfare upon merchant vessels—can prevent a severance of diplomatic relations. That done, and the submarine policy continued, it would be only a matter of time until the sinking of another merchant ship carrying Americans would terminate in acts of reprisal. For, obviously, having broken with Germany for an offense, we can not meet other similar offenses by making faces.

There remains between this country and war, then, but one other possible barrier—that congress may decline to support the established policy of the administration. That it will so decline is improbable. Although many congressmen and senators feel that the president has drawn his line illogically and pressed his point too uncompromisingly, the unprecedented step of refusing to support the government in a crisis will hardly be taken.

Reluctantly do we reach the conclusion that, though not inevitable, war is a decided possibility. The people of the United States do not want war. The offenses against the nation are far away, over seas, and do not strike home as would a shot into our domestic fold or an injury to citizens who have accepted no hazards that might have been avoided. Right or wrong, this logic adds immeasurably to the regret with which Americans have watched the drift of the government toward the abyss.

We neither accept nor reject the administration's interpretation of international law, but we are profoundly impressed by the fact that learned opponents of its policy object upon the ground that the occasion is insufficient rather than that the legality of the grounds is open to question.

However, we had hoped that such had been the advance of civilization that, under the leadership of a strong and righteous nation, there might be a break with old rules, customs and traditions, and that new standards of neutrality might be set up calculated, not to involve nations in war, but to further and strengthen the foundations of peace.

We shall yield this hope with reluctance, but we can not permit our zeal for peace to blind us to the stern logic of a sequence of events which has taken the alternative from our control and reposed in foreign hands the decision as to our international relations.

BLATHERSKITE POLITICIANS

Mr. Mann adds to the joy of nations by condemning President Wilson's note to Germany as "hypocrisy" and "politics". He is incensed that the executive "wants to get us into war with Germany".

What will Mr. Mann, a good republican, say if the republican presidential nominee happens to be Mr. Root, who rages because Mr. Wilson did not attack Germany when Belgium was invaded? or Mr. Roosevelt, who thinks the president a "mollycoddle" who has permitted Germany to trample upon the stars and stripes?

Perhaps Mr. Mann, coming from Teutonic Illinois, regards the war, like the tariff, as a "local issue". Certainly he poorly disguises the fact that the president is "playing politics" no more than he. The average American, who wants no war, is apt to make note of a large number of people who are "playing politics".

Men who have followed the G. O. P. can not be sure that they are republicans until the convention of that party has named its candidate, but people who do not want war on the submarine issue as now drawn can tell pretty definitely in advance that they are not democrats. Almost to a man, we believe, Americans will accept the issue and support the government if war shall be engaged in, but we've a notion that were the question of war upon the present basis submitted to a referendum of the American people the verdict would be overwhelmingly against it. Not that they think the president's contentions wrong, but that they do not consider the grievance sufficient justification for the terrible cost of war.

However, what we intended to say was that Mr. Mann's declaration that the president "is a Scotch Presbyterian and hates the Dutch" is a gauge to fairly measure the statesmanship of the member from Illinois.

THE PRIMARY VOTE FOR HENRY FORD

The surprising vote of Henry Ford in the presidential primaries of Michigan and Nebraska probably is a protest against war rather than the expression of a presidential preference. "It pays to advertise", and no doubt thousands of Ford "joy-riders" paid their respects to Henry in the primary. Perhaps another influence was the desire of voters to recognize a man who, having prospered in business, has set a new standard of sharing his fortune with the workers who helped him make it. At any rate, one is glad that the American people appreciate a high-minded, generous and progressive American gentleman.

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

Real Enlightenment
"Father," said his son, looking up from a book with a puzzled expression in his face, "what is pride?"
"Pride," returned the father, "is a sort of being stuck up, a kind of—well, proud, you know. Just get the dictionary; that's the thing to tell you exactly what it is. There's nothing like a dictionary, Johnny."
"Here it is," said the latter, after an exhaustive search. "Pride—being proud."
"Um—yes, that's it," replied the father.
"But—"
"Well, look at 'proud.' That's the way; you have got to hunt these things out, my lad."
"I've got it," answered Johnny. "Pre—pri—pro—why—"
"What does it say?"
"What does it say?"
"Proud—having pride."
"That's it! There you are, as clear as day. I tell you, Johnny, there is nothing like a good dictionary when you are young. Take care of the binding, my son, as you put it back."

Our Bewildered Poultry
"What is a roost, dad?" asked Tommy.
"A roost, my son, is a pole upon which chickens sit at night," replied his father.
"And what is a perch, dad?"
"A perch is what chickens perch on."
"Then, I suppose, dad, a chicken could roost on a perch?" came the further inquiry.
"Of course," was the smiling reply.
"And they could perch on a roost?"
"Why, y-yes," answered dad.
"But if chickens perched on a roost, wouldn't it? But, if, just after some chickens had perched on a roost and made it a perch, some more chickens came along and roosted on the perch and made it a roost, then the roost would be a perch and the perch would be a roost, and some of the chickens would be perchers and the others would be roosters, and—"

Is that All?
"Who wrote that article on how to support a family of six on $10 a week?" a friend asked Woggles, the editor of the Ladies' Household Friend.
"Bingham, one of our best men," said Woggles without a smile. "We pay him $5,000 a year."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

On the Club Veranda
"Nobody wants to play bridge with Mrs. McLean. She talks all the time."
"I suppose she's quiet when she's dumpy?"
"Quiet? She talks twice as much!"
Time is money—to the man who is working out a fine.

THE TRIBUNE'S DAILY TRAVELETTE

THE ALHAMBRA
The Alhambra is one of the rare perfect nooks where man and nature have worked together to produce a thing of beauty. In its day, it was the chief pride of the Moors who built it, when they were lords of half Spain. They called it "The Pearl of the Occident," a "Jewel set in Emeralds," and similar hyperbolic titles without number, being a race who delighted in the careless spilling of language.
Today, having survived many horrible restorations at the hands of its admirers, it still stands as a thing apart, embracing in its red walls more of peace and beauty than any other spot in Spain. The exterior of the park is disappointing to him who comes with great expectations. The cunning Moorish craftsmen understood the value of contrast, and purposely they made those walls dull and featureless, so that the splendors within might burst on the dazzled eyes as the full sun dazzles one emerging from a dark cellar.
The effect is not quite as startling as all that, perhaps on account of the restoration. But it is startling enough—an overpowering impression of ornate and artistic magnificence. You pass through the Gate of the Pomegranates, where, tradition says, the old Moorish judges sat to decide their cases, and the triple Alhambra lies before you—the Alhambra that was a palace and a castle and a city within a city. Here is the watch tower whence the last Moorish flag in Spain was hauled down for the last time.
All the halls and court yards keep an Oriental pomposity of nomenclature. There is the Place of the Cisterns which enjoyed no less a privilege than that of supplying the palace with water. Here is the Hall of the Maidens where the wives of the sultan kept their private natorium. There is the Hall of Ambassadors, famous as the spot where Christopher Columbus was given a search warrant and started out on the track of new continents.
All these and many others are marvels of intricate carving, of nobly proportioned ornamentation, that cost scores of years and hundreds of lives. Perhaps the best of all is the garden without the "emerald setting" of the jewel, where nightingales sing in the English elms that Wellington planted. Old courts and carvings and gardens harmonize in a perfect whole. It is one of the few places where nightingales must feel comfortably at home.

The TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

ELLEN WHO DARED

BY MARY PRIME

(Copyright, 1916, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"See here, Tom," Mr. Plum said to me as I was going to the outer offices, "no more wax dolls on this switchboard. We want some one built for hard work this time."
I might have reminded him that the wax doll he referred to, that shimmering Miss Rose we had before, who kept a mirror fastened on the switchboard, was his choice, not mine.
I may not be any mind reader, but I could somehow tell that even if Ellen Dowd was only a mite of a girl I just naturally knew that she had it in her, although of course I didn't dream that she had quite such a nerve.

After I had told her the hours and the wage and put her wise as much as I could without saying anything that I oughtn't to about the boss, she said she would take the job.

"Mr. Plum is a very busy man," is the way I put it. "He's more than quick sometimes, and of course it is up to the people who work for him to make allowances. You see what I mean?"

Ellen opened her blue eyes wide and looked at me without smiling. "I imagined he was that kind of man when I heard his name. Perkins Plum—could he be anything else?"

I didn't think at the time that it was a very fitting answer, but there was something about the honest way she leveled those eyes at me that made me feel that she could handle almost any situation. So I told her to come around the next morning and the job would be hers. Plum had caught a glimpse of her going out of the door. He was not in one of his best moods, but I am used to that. As private secretary, I had always thought it was part of my job to take his moods as they came complacently.

"You blockhead, you double blockhead," was what he called me. "Didn't I tell you to get a girl that wasn't a wax doll? She is only as big as a pint of beans. Why don't you go to the day nursery and get a babe in arms to manage my switchboard?"

I began to sharpen a pencil ready for his dictation. That made it easier to not answer back, for, of course, it isn't up to me to say anything when he is in a mood like that.
"Now, I suppose, you have hired her. Can't I trust any one in this office? You would think you would want to save me and sometimes attend to these details for me. But no. Just because the girl is pretty, or petite, or flirtatious, you forget all that I told you and tell her to come and take the job. How do you ever expect to get ahead in the business if you can't even hire a telephone girl with horse sense?"

I went on sharpening the pencil, although I must say I was sore enough at having him mention my chance of advancement that way, for only two days before I had got my courage up to the point of asking him for a chance of a better job. Still, I didn't say anything. I had an idea that when the boss saw how the girl would handle things he wouldn't call her a wax doll. I knew just to look at her that she had it in her, but I never guessed what a nerve she had.

Well, to begin with, Ellen just minded her business, and the boss seemed to want to make an impression on her. It's often that way with big men like him—they are as anxious to make a good impression on their telephone operators and office boys as on a possible client.

But about two days later the newness wore off and he started out on one of his regular rampages. We are all so used to them that aside from feeling nervous and not being able to get much work done while they last, we don't really mind them. But Ellen was different. The boss called for three numbers all at once and then started to bawl at her because she didn't get them all at once. She didn't even get flustered, although I did notice that she got a little more color in her cheeks.

Sometimes new girls get so rattled with Plum that they would cry. And I knew Ellen was young and hadn't worked long, so I kept my eye on her.
"Why in blazes don't you get me that number?" yelled the boss through the door, without letting her know which of the three numbers he wanted first. Well, Ellen got right up and left the switchboard and went in. She seemed as cool as a cucumber and I must say she looked pretty. Mad as he was, the boss must have noticed it.

"Pardon me, Mr. Plum," she said as coolly as a society queen. "It is impossible to get three numbers at once, and we are only wasting time to show such impatience. Now if you will please tell me which of the numbers you wish first I will get it as soon as possible."

Well, no one had ever spoken to the boss that way before. I think I gasped out loud, I was so surprised. I thought at first he would eat her for it or send for the patrol wagon for her he was so mad, and then the mad expression seemed to fade away.

"But in office hours we had little to say to each other. That was Ellen's business at once.
It was one morning when she had been with us about three months and I was beginning to think of her as the most important thing about that office, even with only a few more dollars a week than the young-

NEWS NOTES—MOVIELAND

It was found necessary to charter an ocean liner recently for the spectacular fire-scene in the Gaumont Mutual Masterpicture, "The Isle of Love." Edwin Middleton is directing the story at Jacksonville, Fla., with Gertrude McCoy as the star. Iva Shepard and Earl C. Schenck are prominent in her support. In the action of the fire scenes, Miss McCoy Mr. Schenck, and more than a hundred extra people, were called upon to jump from the smoking vessel into the water. Strange to relate, when it came to the filming Director Middleton's "exposure stuff," the weather on the chosen day was gently mild and warmly smiling. The previous week had been cold and gloomy.

Miss Young to Be A Busy Person
When the Clara Kimball Young Film corporation begins the production of its features on July 15 with Miss Young as the star, what is said to be an innovation in picture making will be introduced. Miss Young has worked out a plan by which she can produce two features simultaneously.
Two directors will be selected, and their work so scheduled that, while one is having sets built on the studio floor for some of his interior scenes, Miss Young will be out on location working with the other director in another picture. Lewis J. Selznick, president and general manager of the new corporation, in discussing the plan, pointed out that it will thus be possible to finish twelve five-reel features in a year.

"The Little Shepherd of Bargain Row," written by Howard McKent Barnes, will be one of the early five-reel releases of the Essanay company in May. It deals with the little girls of bargain row from whose lives the light and sunshine has been crushed out, and with the little shepherd who brings them out of their misfortune into clean green fields of open life.

Wayne Avery, the Thanhouser player, riding in the New York subway recently, had his pocket picked. Fortunately the "dip" missed the pocket with the wallet, his total and he looked just natural. He told her which number he wanted and everything went as smoothly as you please for the rest of the day.

Ellen had charge of the office boys—that was part of her job—and not long after that the boss went off on another tirade. One of his clients had refused to renew his contract and so he was taking it out on us. I had never thought before that it was unfair. Well, that day he had it in for the office boys and they were so scared that they couldn't even answer a question without stammering. I know how it was, for it wasn't so many years ago that I was in their shoes. Ellen stood it about as long as she could. And then, with a lot of dignity tucked away in her little person, she walked into his room.

"Mr. Plum," she said—I was taking his dictation at the time, so I heard her—"I wish to make a suggestion. When you speak so abruptly to those boys you actually terrify them, with the result that they don't know whether they are telling you the truth or not, and it takes them twice as long to do what you want them to because you don't take time to tell them. Will you please give me your orders and let me tell them? We would save a great deal of time that way."

What Ellen had said was as plain as the nose on Plum's face and I guess it had occurred to every one in the office but Plum loads of times before. He looked as if he had been hit at first and then he just grumbled something that sounded like "All right," and when he went back to the dictation he wasn't half so snarly.

I forgot to say that I had been going home with Ellen for a week or so. She lived in the same end of the city and she was such a little mite. I hated to think of her fighting the half-past-five-o'clock crowds alone, so I began to go home with her. And sometimes she asked me to come and see her in the evening—she lived with her old father and married sister and brother, and such a nice, neat little home I had never seen, and one so full of simple happiness.

But in office hours we had little to say to each other. That was Ellen's business at once.
It was one morning when she had been with us about three months and I was beginning to think of her as the most important thing about that office, even with only a few more dollars a week than the youngest girl. It was one of Plum's nervous days. He wasn't exactly raging, but snappy and curt. He was giving dictation at the rate of a couple of hundred words a minute, and I don't know what got into me when I said, "Pardon me, Mr. Plum"—just the way Ellen would have said it—"but when you give dictation so fast I am not able to get it complete. We would save time if you gave it a little slower."

Gertrude McCoy.

Plum stopped short and looked at me in surprise. I thought for a minute I was going to be fired. Then he said, "Boy, you are too valuable a man to waste in this work. I had thought you were merely a machine. I see you have brains besides. You can start in as office manager tomorrow. I'll see about the raise."

Later, he called Ellen into his office. I admit that I went in the next room where I could hear through the partition. I got there just in time to hear him say:
"You are the one woman in the world who has it in her to make me even more of a success than I am. I have decided that I want to marry you."

I surely did almost fall over at that. Naturally my first feeling was one of pride and joy that the girl I had discovered should become Plum's wife, but just as the little green demon of envy was creeping in I heard her answer:
"I am very much honored, Mr. Plum, but I am not free. I am already pledged to another."

With that answer humming in my brain I had to go through with the day's work, and even the note that told me of a substantial raise didn't much mend matters. Promptly at half past five, I started out with Ellen. I told her I had heard the conversation.

"Who is it, Ellen?" I asked impatiently. "I am sure I ought to know." She laughed delightedly. "Silly, you do know, don't you? You hadn't actually asked me, but I thought you knew as well as I that you are Mr. Plum's only successful rival."

A Glasgow hawker was touring the provinces, offering for sale his marvelous curlew mixture, and one day, when about to uncork a bottle to sample he found to his disgust that his corkscrew was missing.
"Is there any gentleman in the crowd belongs to Glasgow?" he asked, looking over his audience.
"Yes, I do," came a reply in a mistakably Glasgow accent.
"Then lend me your corkscrew," was the quick rejoinder.

Temporary Bridge Thrown Across Crevasse and Sev-

waukee Handles Trains

Traffic on the Burlington to the south, which has been held up since Tuesday night when the engine, tender and baggage car of train No. 58 went into a washout six miles south of Dakota, has been partially resumed, it was said today at the office of the superintendent.

A temporary bridge was thrown across the washout at noon yesterday and several freight and passenger trains, held up on both sides of the washout, passed. No trains were allowed to cross during the night, however, officials of the road fearing further depredations by the water indiscernible in the darkness. The morning local from the south was the first train to cross the bridge this morning. Several freights held in the Grand Crossing yards were expected to receive orders to resume normal traffic.

Operating offices of the road were thrown into confusion by the washout, which necessitated sending of trains to Chicago over the Milwaukee. Many of the Burlington passengers until this morning used the Milwaukee between Chicago and this city.

ANNUAL BEAN FEED

Members of Troop One, Boy Scouts of La Crosse, anticipate one of the liveliest gatherings in the history of scoutcraft in La Crosse at the second annual "bean" supper in the parlors of the North Presbyterian church at 6:30 this evening.

Mayor E. E. Bentley will be there and so will Dr. A. T. Rasmussen, president of the La Crosse County Hunting and Fishing association, who is slated to talk to the scouts on the protection of birds.

CHILDREN HATE
PILLS, CALOMEL
AND CASTOR OIL

If cross, feverish, constipated, give "California Syrup of Figs."

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

SOCIETY

MEETINGS POSTPONED

The meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary society of the Caledonia Street Methodist church, scheduled for today, has been postponed until Thursday of next week.

Owing to their regular meeting day falling on Good Friday, the Ladies of the Macabees will not meet this week, having postponed the meeting until Friday, April 28th.

YEOMEN EVENTS

The Brotherhood of American Yeomen held its regular meeting and weekly dance Tuesday evening, and completed arrangements for their Easter ball to be given next Tuesday evening. A committee of five ladies were appointed to make arrangements for the large class adoption which will take place the forepart of May, the month set aside for the ladies in Yeomanry. The following ladies were selected: Mesdames Lee, Vondrashek, Kohn and the Misses Edna Jacobs and Lucy Thiero.

Tuesday afternoon the ladies of Rowena Circle entertained their friends at cards. Favors were awarded to Mesdames Rubert, Welch, Kohn, Mosher, Close, Hawkins, Nelson and Hackbart.

Next Tuesday afternoon the Circle will hold its regular meeting after which there will be card playing for members only, and on Thursday afternoon the ladies will entertain their friends at five hundred.

H. A. Lee has returned from Galesville, where he attended a Yeomen class adoption Tuesday evening. He also presented the state banner to that homestead for securing the most members in the state of Wisconsin in the last three months.

FAREWELL PARTY

Mrs. Oscar Engas, 315 South Twenty-third street, entertained the members of the choir of the West Avenue Lutheran church and a few other friends at her home last evening complimentary to Mrs. Will Haller. The affair was in the nature of a farewell for Mrs. Haller, who left today to rejoin her husband on their homestead near Lake City, Montana, after an eleven months' stay in the city with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Simon Lee, Fourteenth and Market streets. The evening was pleasantly spent in a social way, music furnishing the chief diversion, and a dainty collation was served. Those present were the Mesdames Ralph Anderson of Minneapolis, George Johns, Ed. Moore, Norman Hall, Lilian Strand and O. C. Myhre and the Misses Palma Limoneth, Louise Knutson, Esther Knutson, Olga Bakum, Asta Dahlgren, Sigrid Dahlgren, Louisa Tenneson, Lee Esperseth, Marie Hovind, Edna Nelson, Anna Limpert, Martha Lund, Hulda Lund and Martha Neprasky.

CHILDREN'S PARTY

Mrs. Calvin W. Baker, 300 West Avenue South, entertained at a delightful children's party yesterday afternoon in honor of the tenth birthday of her daughter, Helen. There were twenty-six children present. The decorations were Easter lilies and red roses and each guest received as a favor a chocolate Easter egg ornamented with pink rosebuds and gift leaves. In the party were Mary Finch, Ernadel Meigs, Mary Wing, Helen Colman, Elizabeth Felber, Zeta McDonough, Helen Bunge, Katherine Wolfe, Wynona Hauser, Gertrude Salzer, Alberta Hirschheimer, Posey Edwards, Margaret Jones, Genevieve Benezet, Elizabeth Grams, Phyllis Bentley, Marian Thwing, Ruth Um, Alice Platz, Beverly Carrington, Mary White, Alice Hebbard and Virginia, Helen and Dorothy Baker.

THREE ECONOMICAL RECIPES

Waffles with maple syrup—Beat up two yolks of eggs, add a tablespoonful of melted butter, one and three-fourths cupfuls of milk, two cupfuls of flour sifted with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, and one-half teaspoonful of salt. Mix carefully and add the beaten whites of the eggs. Cook on a hot greased waffle iron. Serve hot with maple syrup.

Oatmeal Rolls—Pour two cupfuls of sour milk over one and one-half cupfuls of rolled oats and let stand over night. In the morning add one well-beaten egg, one cupful of sifted flour, one teaspoonful of baking soda, one teaspoonful of salt and two tablespoonfuls of butter. Mix and bake in a roll pan in a hot oven.

An inexpensive nut cake—Cream one-half cupful of butter with one cupful of sugar, add two well-beaten eggs, one-half cupful of milk, one-fourth teaspoonful of salt, one and one-half cupfuls flour sifted with one and one-half teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Now add one cupful of chopped nut meats and mix carefully. Bake in a moderate oven for three-fourths of an hour. Cool, cover with white icing and decorate with nut meats.—The People's Home Journal.

The building in question is that at 428 Main street, next to the frame structure recently gutted by fire.

Newburg owns the building occupied by the Peet store. In his suit he declares that Peet's lease has expired, but that Peet is dilatory about moving out.

The case will come before Judge C. W. Hunt Saturday.

PROBE MILK PRICE INCREASE SINCE
FARMERS' VICTORY

CHICAGO, April 20.—Health Commissioner John D. Robertson today planned to call a conference of milk dealers to find out why the price of milk has been boosted from eight to nine cents a quart. The dealers recently gave in to dairymen's demand for an increase in the price of the product.

"But the increase only amounted to one-quarter to one-third of a cent a quart," said Robertson.

GLYNN MENTIONED FOR KEYNOTE JOB

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Former Governor Glynn of New York, it was said in democratic circles in New York today, is the man most likely to deliver the keynote address of the party at the St. Louis convention.

Glynn's handling of the situation at the state convention met general commendation from democratic leaders. Since then, in an effort to settle upon the best man for temporary chairman, the democratic leaders have returned time and again to Glynn. Norman E. Mack, former chairman of the democratic national committee, has advocated Glynn's selection, it is said.

BURGLARS STEAL HAIR OF VICTIM

NEW YORK, April 20.—Two burglars, who lost their desire to steal and spent their time vandalizing a flat and clipping the hair from the head of their pretty victim, are being sought today following the relation of an unusual story by Mrs. Margaret A. Donaldson of Bay Ridge, N. J.

She was awakened by a cloth pressed against her face. When she tried to scream it was forced into her mouth and she was then tied. The two men who did the work left her and ripped the apartment from top to bottom, each returning every few minutes to clip a lock of hair from her head. The hair was found strung along the piano keyboard.

GREAT EMANCIPATOR'S ASSASSINATION SHOWN IN "BIRTH OF A NATION"

Lincoln at Prayer—A Scene from "The Birth of a Nation."
A kind of artistic achievement for the film, but impossible for the "indoor drama" is illustrated by Ford's theater scene in "The Birth of a Nation," which returns to the Majestic next week.
The old fashioned drama has long attempted to represent a stage within a stage, and some of such representations have been rather realistic.
But in the film scene showing the assassination of President Lincoln, one sees not only the complete stage of Ford's theater in April 1865, but also the auditorium of the theater, the audience and the historical figures in the boxes.
Laura Keane is playing "Our American Cousin," assisted by E. A. Sothern in the role of Lord Dundreary. They are startled out of their

THRIFT URGED TO REPLACE AMERICAN EXTRAVAGANT HABIT

Whether he accumulates it by selling papers, or by the slow process of rewards for running errands and refraining from spending jam on the tablecloth, he has bought the right to it by giving something in exchange. For this reason, he should be permitted to spend the money himself, although a certain amount of parental supervision is, of course, necessary.

Overlook Rights
Parents are often prone to overlook this sacred right of ownership and calmly annex their son's or daughter's savings account for shoes or hair-ribbons, or something like that. Two little Philadelphia boys, who by many heroic sacrifices of new base ball bats and caramels, had managed to save $25 each in a school savings bank, were suddenly left fatherless and the money was taken by their mother to buy them clothing. While this parent had no intention of being unkind, and made use of her children's savings only as a last resort to purchase necessities for them, it would have been more considerate to the boys if she had allowed them to do the actual spending for the clothing under her supervision. As it was, this pleasant sense of ponderous responsibility and ownership was denied them.
One well-to-do woman boasted to a teacher that her daughter was now 12 years old, and had never spent a cent. She explained that money was so hard to come by, and that she did not wish her child to value everything by its monetary worth. Everything, even candy, was always bought for her, and she was never told the price. Needless to say, she was never made to earn anything. Later, however, it developed that the daughter had learned the value of things from other children, and was selling her belongings for the price of entrance fees to see Mary Pickford. This child did not realize she was doing anything she shouldn't. She was merely finding expression for an impulse of economic independence, and for the first time in her life she was giving something in return for what she got.

Many Paths to Thrift
There are many ways in which children may earn and save money. The girls' canning clubs and boys' pig clubs, for instance, are splendid examples of inculcating thrift. The average farmer is usually a hard-working individual with a large family, who seldom saves a great deal above the cost of living and the interest on the mortgage. As a result there is very little left over to give to the children as spending money. Except on Fourth of July and Christmas, the boy on the farm rarely knows what a quarter looks like. But by working a green vegetable garden or raising a litter of pigs, the boy may realize a profit on his labor and start a bank account toward his ambition. Likewise, a girl who can help supply the demand for canned peaches or tomatoes, may have a good sum in the bank by the time she is twenty.
Gardening is a congenial and profitable occupation for the average child, and Dr. P. P. Claxton, of the United States bureau of education, recommends it highly in teaching thrift in the schools. In many cities small boys and girls are raising vegetables on the vacant lots, and this year numerous back-yards are displaying a plowed surface. Sometimes the children sell the vegetables they raise to their own families, but in them. A boy of 13 in an eastern city started raising vegetables in a half acre of land, which was the backyard. He sold his vegetables at a profit, saved money, and later, by borrowing $100, was able to erect a greenhouse, which he has since enlarged in proportion to a rapidly growing business. He is now 20 years old, with a bank account of $3,000—the independent earnings of his own labor. Most boys of his age are just beginning to ponder on how they can save a thousand dollars.

These instances show that children can be taught to save. The prejudice against economy, so general among the American people, has not yet been implanted in their minds. In this national movement to teach thrift to the rising generation is the best hope for a less extravagant and more solvent United States.

WILL COMPANY M BE MOVED AWAY AFTER RADIO SHIFT?

Will the title of Company M, Third Wisconsin, be transferred to Chippewa Falls when the militia organization of this city now so designated is metamorphosed into Radio Company A? This question is causing discussion among militiamen here.
If the transfer should take place, as is believed likely by local citizens, it will mean a change in plans announced by General Orlando Holway when he notified Company M of their selection as the state's first signal and aero company. General Holway said at that time that a new Company M would be recruited here.
Militiamen, however, point out that La Crosse is now the headquarters of three companies of militia, and that with the removal of Company M following its transfer into the signal corps, it will still have three companies.
For some time, they say, Chippewa Falls has had an unattached company, all vacancies in the regiments of the state being filled.

Q-BAN DARKENS GRAY HAIR

Everybody Uses It — So Handy. Harmless—No Dye.

By applying Q-Ban Hair Color Restorer, like a shampoo, to your hair and scalp, all your gray, streaked with gray, prematurely gray or faded, dry or harsh hair quickly turns to an even, beautiful dark shade, so every strand of your hair, whether gray or not, becomes glossy, fluffy, lustrous, soft, thick, with that even, dark shimmer of beautiful, radiant, healthy hair—just as you like to have your hair appear—fascinating and abundant, without even a trace of gray showing, only natural, evenly dark, lovely hair. Q-Ban is absolutely harmless; no dye, ready to use. Only 50c for a big bottle at Hoescher Bros.' drug store, La Crosse, Wis. Out-of-town folks supplied by mail.—Advertisement.

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

We eat too much meat which clogs kidneys, then the Back hurts.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.
You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.
Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.
A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

LOCATE CARRIERS POSSIBLE SERIOUS EPIDEMIC AVERTED

What might become a serious epidemic of diphtheria among the hundreds of workers employed at the La Crosse Rubber Mills, it became known today, averted by timely investigation of a series of "sore throats" by the city health department. Since last Friday, eighteen diphtheria "carriers," whose throats were found to contain the germs of the disease, but who were themselves immune, have been located among the 225 employees of the mill's shoe department, sent home and put under local treatment for removal of the contagion from their throats. Today the situation is practically cleared up. Health Commissioner J. M. Furstman said. Only one positive case of diphtheria has developed.
The health department was called in last Friday, when an increasing number of "sore throat" complaints disturbed the officers of the company. Cultures were taken from the throats of all the employees in the shoe department, and the eighteen "carriers" were found. Since their absence, complaint of "sore throat" has ended in the department.
With one exception, the "carriers" have failed to develop the disease themselves. Local treatment for the elimination of the diphtheria germs from the throats has been carried on steadily, and they were to be examined again this afternoon. If cultures from the throats reveal no diphtheria organisms under the microscope, they will be back at work tomorrow.

The license for the wedding had been procured when persons interested in charitable work interfered and took the matter before Judge Sheridan.

LITTLE AMERICAN ARMY IS FAR INTO MEXICO; CARRANZA TROOPS ON ALL SIDES

The American expeditionary force in Mexico is now below Parral, where a bloody fight between Mexican civilians and American troops recently occurred. SIGNATURE ON THE VON IGEL OFFICES LEASE IS SOUGHT

NEW YORK, April 20.—Settlement of another international question which Germans regard as of great gravity today apparently hinges on who signed the lease for the offices occupied by Wolf Von Igel, former secretary to Captain Franz John B. Stanchfield, counsel for Von Igel, conferred with District Attorney Marshall today regarding the official papers taken from Igel's offices when he was arrested in connection with the Welland canal conspiracy. Stanchfield told Marshall that the German embassy officials are very insistent that Von Igel's offices are the New York branch of the Washington embassy and therefore inviolate. Legal authorities declare if this point is pressed, then the department of justice must determine who signed the lease for the rooms. If the lease was signed by an embassy attaché, the German contention must stand. If not the offices are no more private than those of any business concern.

Captain Hans Tauscher, American agent of the Krupp, and husband of Mme. Gadsch, indicted with Von Igel and Von Papen in the Welland canal plot, pleaded not guilty before Federal Judge Howe today. Felix T. Levy, his counsel, made the usual request for permission to change the plea if desired. He was given until Monday to make any change and bond was fixed at $25,000.

GERMANY'S PAPERS CAUTIOUS; ALLIES EXPRESS PLEASURE

indifference over the first submarine outrages. But despite their reduced space on account of the limited supply of paper, the newspapers for several weeks have been devoting considerable effort to giving the public a better idea of conditions in America.

The masses are now beginning to understand the difficulties that have confronted President Wilson. His apparent determination not to yield an inch to Germany has completely wiped out all the earlier impressions. The newspapers here hold German agents responsible for at least part of President Wilson's troubles in Mexico.

The marine department has thus far refused to permit publication of the submarine which torpedoed the Sussex, or the name of the commander, on the ground that it would be improper to do anything likely to influence American public opinion in such a crisis. The newspapers contrast this attitude with the activities of Captain Von Papen before he was dismissed by the American government.

What England Thinks

LONDON, Eng., April 20.—"We don't exult over the prospect of America's entrance into our war," said the Manchester Guardian, "but we do exult in the prospect for a victory for the ideals of law and humanity. Whether Germany yields or not this victory is sensibly nearer."

The Globe declares that the United States is probably more useful to the allies under present conditions than if she entered the war.

The Westminster Gazette says that President Wilson "has mapped out a line of action which admits no retreat."

MADISON EXPERT INSPECTS PAVING ON CITY STREETS

Upon the report of G. B. Bascom, Madison, highway and street expert who went over La Crosse streets yesterday, will largely rest the recommendations to be made to the council by the special street improvement committee for street work to be done with the $10,000 appropriation this year.

Mr. Bascom was shown over the city by Mayor A. A. Bentley, member of the special street improvement committee and the board of public works yesterday afternoon. He took notes on street conditions here and agreed to make a written report of his findings within a few days.

"We went over streets in every part of the city, and took especial note of the water-bound macadam which it is intended to replace with better streets in many instances," Mayor Bentley said today.

ALLEGED TALE OF SPY IN BRITAIN GIVEN TO GOTHAM

WASHINGTON, April 20.—The confession which, it is alleged, Horst Von Doltz gave to British authorities as the price of his life, is now before the New York grand jury. It was learned today. Copies of the confession, between 5,000 and 6,000 words, are in the hands of the department of justice also.

Word by telephone from District Attorney Marshall this afternoon prevented making the document public.

Statements of sensational significance are said to be contained in the confession, involving many high officials in the German propaganda if not the criminal activities, now being investigated by the New York grand jury.

BABY CAMEL BORN DEAD AND PAINS ARE FOR NAUGHT

MADISON, Wis., April 20.—Keeper Mike Quinn of the Vilas park zoo has been tiptoeing around the camel house for the past month. A portentous event was anticipated. He built a tiny stall, all finished in white enamel, and made other elaborate preparations for the new addition to the menagerie. Today the baby camel was born. It was born dead.

"Delivery System" Is Arranged For Easter Services

"Churchgoers called for and delivered." This was the sign hung out today by the executive committee of the associated churches "Go to Church Campaign." In accordance with the plans laid last Tuesday, arrangements have been made for autos and carriages to take to Easter morning services all aged and infirm folk who would otherwise be unable to attend. The committee issued the following list of pastors and their phone numbers for the guidance of persons who wish to request the "delivery service."

DAUGHTER BLAMES SELF FOR DRIVING FATHER TO DEED

BINGHAMPTON, N. Y., April 20.—"I am to blame. I hounded Papa about money matters until he couldn't stand it."

Dying of bullet wounds inflicted by her father, Alfred L. Sharpe, 55, formerly of El Paso, Texas, just before he shot and killed himself, Miss Holland Sharpe, 18, pretty society girl, made this statement here today. She was shot twice through the body last night as she fled from Sharpe. He then shot himself in the heart.

A quarrel in the Sharpe home preceded the shooting. She urged her father to resign his trusteeship of the money Mrs. Sharpe had left her, so that another trustee could be appointed. Sharpe refused and drove her from the room at the point of a revolver. She dashed upstairs. Just before reaching the top the first bullet struck her. It penetrated her left lung. The second also penetrated her chest and her right hand which was clasped to her bosom. The girl fell and two more shots thudded into the wall over her prostrate body.

Miss Sharpe and her father had often quarreled about money. His papers, according to Coroner Hook, showed that he contemplated the murder and suicide for a long time. The daughter did not think him liberal enough in his guardianship of her fortune. Sharpe was of Cherry Valley, N. Y., and had been collector of customs at El Paso. At the time of death he was superintendent of buildings for his cousin, Willis Sharpe Kilmer, wealthy patent medicine manufacturer. The man now dead recently suffered financial reverses in Texas investments.

"I would rather have lost all the money in the world than have had this awful thing happen," Miss Sharpe told a friend at her bedside.

GRADE CROSSINGS ORDERED FROM KENOSHA CITY

MADISON, Wis., April 20.—Grade separation at practically every important crossing in the city of Kenosha is today ordered in a decision by the railroad commission. This includes both railroad and street railway crossings. The entire cost of the ordered track elevations and car and pedestrian subways amounts to $1,600,000.

The railroad commission denied the applications of the railroads for increases in switching rates at Milwaukee, making the inter-industrial rates one per cent per hundred.

The application of citizens of West Allis for 75-cent gas; the price is 90 cents, was denied by the commission. The contention of the West Allis complainants was that they were entitled to the same rate as the city of Milwaukee.

MURDERER AND SCHEMERING WIFE TAKEN TO WAUPUN

WAUTOMA, Wis., April 20.—John Laskee and his wife were taken to Waupun penitentiary today—the man to start serving a sentence of seven years for murder, and his wife to serve two years for attempting to aid her husband in escaping jail by smuggling him a saw hidden in a huge cake. Laskee was found guilty in circuit court yesterday. He was accused of murdering Hugo Mackee at Red Granite following a quarrel over a woman. He was captured in Chicago about three months after the murder.

In circuit court today David Driscoll was sentenced to the penitentiary for five years on the charge of attempting to blow the safe at Plainfield.

MADISON, Wis., April 20.—Academic cogitation at the university was somewhat disturbed by the shrill cries of freshmen violators of the green cap rule as they were dropped into Lake Mendota by relentless upper classmen. The rule goes into effect today, following the winter exemption.

BERNSTORFF HOPES A MITY POSSIBLE IN ISSUE ON SEAS

German submarine commanders operating in the Mediterranean but this will not suffice. What is wanted now is abandonment of attacks on merchant vessels, freight and passenger pending definite agreement on the terms under which submarines should operate. The fact that Germany has not lived up to her pledges, already given, prevents her Mediterranean pact from satisfying the United States.

Reports Situation

In advance of his conference with Lansing, Ambassador Bernstorff reported the Washington situation to the foreign office and made certain recommendations.

Scores of telegrams were received at the White house today, practically all of them indicating support of the president, whatever may be the outcome of his negotiations with Germany. Many, however, expressed the hope that even though it be found necessary in the last analysis to sever diplomatic relations, actual war may be averted.

Congressmen Stay Over

Many congressmen called at the White house today eager to get first hand information from the president as to how imminent a break with Germany might be. A number were planning to leave the city but as a result of the president's speech yesterday, did not wish to go if trouble threatens. Following their conferences with the president all declined to express themselves beyond saying they were still hoping for the best.

Husting Has Word for Wilson

Among senators who saw the president was Husting of Wisconsin, who told the executive he believed the people back in the country are for avoiding war as far as possible, but that they feel this government has about gone to the limit of patience.

Kern Taboo on Discussion

Senate Leader Kern of Indiana, an early caller at the White house today, said he thought there was no disposition on the part of congress to discuss the international situation in any way but to leave the president unembarrassed in handling the crisis. He said that inasmuch as the note had already gone to Germany, talk in congress could do no good and might possibly do harm.

In reply to criticisms like that of Senator Gore (Dem.) that the president is risking war because "a few rash Americans insist on traveling on armed vessels," it was pointed out at the White house today that the controversy has shifted entirely away from the "armed merchantmen" angle as a result of the attack on the Sussex. The Sussex was neither armed nor a merchantman. She was a passenger ferryboat, according to undisputed testimony, plying a course never taken by merchantmen.

It was also pointed out that among the "rash Americans" aboard were newspapermen, government couriers and attaches, the very nature of whose work and public service compelled their presence aboard a ship flying a belligerent flag, since there are no neutral passenger ships. American or others on which it is possible to reach France at the present time.

Just for Emphasis

Inclusion of the word "altogether" in the president's threat to sever diplomatic relations with Germany is said at the state department to have been merely to give the note emphasis.

Officials would not indicate to what extent a severance would go. A break in diplomatic relations could be accomplished by merely recalling the American ambassador from Berlin. The German ambassador here would be handed his passports probably, but this is not essential.

Where there would be no necessity for withdrawing American consuls from Germany, such a step might be included, though officials said "circumstances will govern that situation."

Nothing to Be Ashamed Of

PERMIT IS ISSUED FOR ERECTION OF PAINT CREEK DAM

Valuation of Wisconsin-Minnesota Company's Dam Site Given Today by Rail Commission

CERTAIN LIMITS PUT ON PLAN

Commission Says State Has Power to Take Over Dam in Thirty Years; Wisconsin Has Call on "Juice"

MADISON, Wis., April 20.—(Special.)—The formal permit for the building of the Wissota dam, sometimes known as the Paint Creek site, by the Wisconsin-Minnesota Light and Power company was issued by the railroad commission today. It will furnish power to La Crosse, Minneapolis and St. Paul. Attached to the permit is the valuation of the railroad commission of the dam site and all flowage rights and other property necessary for the purposes set forth in the application for the permit. This valuation includes all of these, whether at present owned by the power company or not. The value is fixed at $2,350,000.

Limit Lake's Area. The elevation of the crest of the dam is fixed at 898 feet. The proposed dam will create a lake several miles long, and from a half mile to a mile or more in width. The permit, however, expressly provides that this lake shall be entirely confined within contour level 902, as shown on the maps on file with the commission. The certificate expressly states that it is not an approval of the detailed plans, and that work can only be done under such detailed plans as shall receive the approval of the commission.

The opinion calls attention to the change in the law brought about by the enactment of Chapter 380 of the laws of 1915, which expressly repealed the provisions of the former act providing that no value should be given to water power. It shows that had the old Husting act remained on the statute books the valuation would have been lower.

"Under the Husting act (1913), the policy of the state was declared to be that when the state should take over a water power it should do so only on a valuation which should exclude any value to water power or the use of water power or its availability in connection with the use of water power," says the decision. "But the present law substituted for that policy a valuation to be made by the commission, before the permit should be issued, or the dam site, flowage rights and other property, ex industria repealing and omitting that provision of the Husting act which excluded from valuation any rights to water power or its availability in connection with the use of water power."

Increase Accrues to State. The commission, however, holds that it is the present value of the dam site and flowage rights which are to be ascertained, that the dam site and flowage rights are to be valued in their present undeveloped state for water power purposes, and that the state will have the right at the expiration of 30 years to take over the property at the valuation fixed by the railroad commission and that it was the intention of the law that an increase in value during the next thirty years, or through development, should accrue to the benefit of the state.

The Minnesota-Wisconsin Light & Power company's engineers claimed a valuation of from $3,000,000 to $6,000,000 for the water power alone, outside of the cost of the dam site and flowage rights. The flowage rights have not all been acquired as yet. It will be necessary to move the main tracks of the Ashland division of the Omaha road. This cost alone is estimated at $183,000. The land acquired so far cost between $300,000 and $400,000. The actual cost of the dam site and lands, outside of any value for water power purposes, will be, it is estimated, between $850,000 and $1,200,000. The entire cost is estimated at $3,200,000.

Wisconsin Has Call. Attention is also called by the commission to the fact that under the present law, the Wisconsin-Minnesota company will have to cease selling electricity to St. Paul and Minneapolis, whenever the demand in Wisconsin calls for the use thereof in this state.

Steps are being taken to assure the absolute safety of the proposed dam. The commission has made arrangements with Prof. D. W. Mead of Madison to pass on the entire safety of the project. L. L. Smith of the state engineering department, has had charge of the inspection work for the commission on all concrete work that has been put in. The project is the largest ever undertaken in the state along water power development lines.

Disinterested enthusiasm is a good thing if a man knows how to work it.

VERSE and REVERSE

Country Stillness

It seems to me I'd like to go
Where bells don't ring nor whistles blow,
Nor clocks don't strike, nor gongs don't sound,
And I'd have stillness all around.

Not real stillness, but just the trees' Low whisperings, or the hum of the bees,
Or brooks' faint babbling over stones In strangely, softly tangled tones.

Or maybe a cricket or katydid,
Or the songs of the birds in hedges hid,
Or just some such sweet sounds as these

To fill a tired heart with ease.

If 'tweren't for sight and sound and smell,

I'd like a city pretty well,
But when it comes to getting rest I like the country lots the best.

Sometimes it seems to me I must
Just quit the city's din and dust
And get out where the sky is blue;
And, say, how does it seem to you?

KAISER NOT TO YIELD TO U. S. THINK BRITISH

English Press Believes a Diplomatic Rupture Certain and War Strongly Possible

BY ED L. KEEN
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, April 20.—Well informed persons here do not believe that Germany will yield to the United States. The general opinion in London is that a diplomatic break is certain and that war is a strong possibility.

This view is based on the fact that Germany has emphasized the statement that the submarine is her most effective weapon in fighting England. For this reason it is believed that Germany cannot afford to concede any essential points, though it is thought possible she will offer certain concessions to obtain some delay.

The British attitude toward President Wilson's note ranges from quiet satisfaction to near jubilation. It is quite likely that it will have a salutary effect upon the cabinet, crisis here and a most important influence upon Holland, Greece, Rumania and the Scandinavian neutrals.

The Kaiser is to now decide whether he wants war with the United States or not, the Daily Chronicle holds.

"It is difficult to suppose that the German government, elated by the submarine successes of the past six weeks, will accept President Wilson's terms," said the Chronicle. "Diplomatic relations between Berlin and Washington will then be broken. The resulting situation of course will not be a state of war but may easily develop into one if Germany perpetrates fresh atrocities in which the victims include Americans."

"This is most obvious to both parties. President Wilson has counted the cost and presumably the Kaiser is counting it. If he decides that a continuance of the submarine war is worth a diplomatic breach with America, he will probably decide that it is worth war, too. If, on the other hand, he desires to avoid war, he would most naturally make his concession at a stage when he would also avert a breaking of relations."

The Chronicle view was not accepted in all quarters, however. Some diplomats here said they believed Germany would accept a diplomatic break, not daring to risk popular displeasure by appearing to back down before the United States. After the breach came, they said, the German government would so order its submarine policies that there would be no danger of a war with America.

"The significance of the statement," said the Pall Mall Gazette this afternoon, "lies in the fact that President Wilson is no longer able to withhold official cognizance of the true character of the German policy. America may be congratulated on the fact that she has reached the point where she is no longer compelled to wear the full livery of official neutrality as between man and beast."

CRISIS AVERTED IN BRITISH CABINET COMPROMISE MADE

Report is General Conscription Postponed For Two Months to Give Voluntary System Chance

LONDON, April 20.—The crisis in the British cabinet has been averted and all differences settled, it was announced this afternoon. An official statement is being prepared, covering the agreement on conscription. The compromise, it is reported, provides only for the postponement of general conscription for a period of not more than two months to give the voluntary system one more chance to produce the number of men demanded by the army heads.

It was officially announced that the agreement reached by the cabinet will be laid before parliament at a secret session Tuesday.

Minister of Munitions Lloyd George told his friends he was completely satisfied with the settlement though none of the cabinet members disclosed exactly what the agreement contained.

"Step lively, you idiot," answered one of the old women, trying to pull herself up to the step of the car. "We look as if we could step lively now, don't we? Wait till you are as old as we are and see how lively you will step; but you will never live to be so old. The fool killer will get you long before then."—New York Times.

"My boss never has no tickets for his travelin'." "Is dat so?" asked his friend. "Why don't he have no tickets?" "Cause de railroad is jes' proud ter tote him!" exclaimed the oyal Clayborn. FORD LEADS AND BRYANS ARE LOW IN NEBRASKA RACE

OMAHA, Neb., April 20.—On returns based on complete figures from ten counties and partial returns from forty-two more, Henry Ford today is leading Senator A. B. Cummins of Iowa, in the republican presidential preference primaries by about 1,800 votes. Justice Hughes is a poor third.

Woodrow Wilson was defeated in one precinct in Seward county by Robert G. Ross, proprietor of a livery stable. The precinct is German-American and the vote was 29 to 38. Ross filed himself as candidate for both the democratic and republican presidential nominations in the primaries.

Late returns from the primary elections continue to emphasize the defeat of the Bryans in their fight for control of the democratic party. Mayor Charles W. Bryan is running way behind his opponent, Keith Neville for the gubernatorial nomination, and W. J. Bryan is now seventh in the list for delegate-at-large to the national convention.

Senator Hitchcock is apparently renominated, having what appears to be a safe lead over I. J. Dunn, who was supported by Bryan. Judge Kennedy of Omaha is well ahead of ex-

The United States' Note To Germany

WASHINGTON, April 19.—"Unless the imperial government should now immediately declare and effect an abandonment of its present methods of submarine warfare against passenger and freight carrying vessels, the government of the United States can have no choice but to sever diplomatic relations with the German empire altogether."

This is the demand of the note to Germany given out by the state department late yesterday.

The note follows:

Secretary of State to Ambassador Gerard:

You are instructed to deliver to the secretary of foreign affairs a communication reading as follows:

"I did not fail to transmit immediately by telegraph, to my government your excellency's note of the tenth instant in regard to certain attacks by German submarines and particularly in regard to the disastrous explosion which on March 24 last wrecked the French steamship Sussex in the English channel. I have now the honor to deliver, under instructions from my government, the following reply to your excellency:

"In formation now in the possession of the government of the United States fully establishes the facts in the case of the Sussex and the inferences which my government has drawn from that information it regards as confirmed by the circumstances set forth in your excellency's note of the tenth instant. On the 24th of March, 1916, at about 2:50 o'clock in the afternoon, the unarmed steamer Sussex, with 325 or more passengers on board, among them were a number of American citizens, was torpedoed while crossing from Folkestone to Dieppe. The Sussex had never been armed; was a vessel known to be habitually only for the conveyance of passengers across the English channel, and was not following the route taken by troop ships or supply ships. About eighty of her passengers, non-combatants of all ages and sexes, including citizens of the United States, were killed or injured.

Hit By German Torpedo

"A careful, detailed and scrupulously impartial investigation by naval and military officers of the United States has conclusively established the fact that the Sussex was torpedoed without warning or summons to surrender and that the torpedo by which she was struck was of German manufacture. In the view of the government of the United States these facts from the first made the conclusion that the torpedo was fired by a German submarine unavoidable. It now considers that conclusion substantiated by the statements of your excellency's note. A full statement of the facts upon which the government of the United States has based its conclusion is enclosed.

"The government of the United States after having given careful consideration to the note of the imperial government of the tenth of April, regrets to state that the impression made upon it by the statements, and proposals contained in that note is that the imperial government has failed to appreciate the gravity of the situation which has resulted, not alone from the attack on the Sussex, but from the whole method and character of submarine warfare as disclosed by the unrestrained practice of the commanders of German undersea craft during the past twelve months and more in the indiscriminate destruction of merchant vessels of all sorts, nationalities and destinations. If the sinking of the Sussex had been an isolated case, the government of the United States might find it impossible to hope that the officer who was responsible for that act had willfully violated his orders or had been criminally negligent in taking none of the precautions they prescribed, and that the ends of justice might be satisfied by imposing upon him an adequate punishment, coupled with a formal disavowal of the act and payment of a suitable indemnity by the imperial government. But, though the attack upon the Sussex was manifestly indefensible and caused a loss of life so tragical as to make it stand forth as one of the most terrible of the inhumanity of submarine warfare as the commanders of German vessels are conducting it, it unhappily does not stand alone.

On the contrary, the government of the United States is forced by recent events to conclude that it is only one instance, even though one of the most extreme and most distressing instances, of the deliberate method and spirit of indiscriminate destruction of merchant vessels of all sorts, nationalities and destinations which have become more and more unmistakable as the activity of German undersea vessels of war has in recent months been quickened and extended.

ations which have become more and more unmistakable as the activity of German undersea vessels of war has in recent months been quickened and extended.

Protested War Zone

"The imperial government will recall that when in February, 1915, it announced its intention of treating the waters surrounding Great Britain and Ireland as embraced within the seat of war, and of destroying all merchant ships owned by its enemies that might be found within that zone of danger and warned all vessels, neutral as well as belligerent, to keep out of the waters thus prescribed or to enter them at their peril, the government of the United States earnestly protested. It took the position that such a policy could not be pursued without constant gross and palpable violations of the accepted law of nations, particularly if submarine craft were to be employed as its instruments, inasmuch as the rules prescribed by that law, rules founded on the principles of humanity and established for the protection of the lives of non-combatants at sea, could not in the nature of the case be observed by such vessels. It based its protest on the ground that persons of neutral nationality and vessels of neutral ownership would be exposed to extreme and intolerable risks; and that no right to close any part of the high seas could lawfully be asserted by the imperial government in the circumstance then existing. The law of nations in these waters, upon which the government of the United States based that protest, is not of recent origin nor founded on merely arbitrary principles set up by convention. It is based upon the contrary, upon manifest principles of humanity and has long been established with the approval and by the express assent of all civilized nations.

Germany Obdurate

"The imperial government, notwithstanding, persisted in carrying out the policy announced, expressing the hope that the dangers involved, at any rate to neutral vessels, would be reduced to a minimum by the instructions which it had issued to the commanders of its submarines, and assuring the government of the United States that it would take every possible precaution both to respect the rights of neutrals and to safeguard the lives of non-combatants.

"In pursuance of this policy of submarine warfare against the commerce of its adversaries, thus announced and thus entered upon in despite of the solemn protest of the government of the United States, the commanders of the imperial government's undersea vessels have carried on practices of such ruthless destruction as to have made it more and more evident as the months have gone by that the imperial government has found it impracticable to put any such restraints upon them as it had hoped and promised to put. Again and again the imperial government has given its solemn assurances to the government of the United States that at least passenger ships would not be thus dealt with, and yet it has repeatedly permitted its undersea commanders to disregard those assurances with entire impunity. As recently as February last, it gave notice that it would regard all armed merchantmen owned by its enemies as part of the armed naval forces of its adversaries and deal with them as with men of war, thus, at least by implication, pledging itself to give warning to vessels which were not armed and to accord security of life to their passengers and crews, but even this limitation their submarine commanders have recklessly ignored.

"Vessels of neutral ownership, even vessels of neutral ownership bound from neutral port to neutral port, have been destroyed along with vessels of belligerent ownership in constantly increasing numbers. Sometimes the merchantmen attacked have been warned and summoned to surrender before being fired on or torpedoed; sometimes they have been attacked without a moment's warning, often before they have become aware that they were in the presence of an armed ship of the enemy, and the lives of non-combatants, passengers and crews have been destroyed wholesale and in a manner which the government of the United States cannot but regard as wanton and without the slightest color or justification. No limit of any kind has in fact been set to their indiscriminate pursuit and destruction of merchantmen of all kinds and nationalities within the waters which the imperial government has chosen to designate as lying within the seat of war. The roll of Americans who have lost their lives upon ships thus attacked and destroyed has grown month by month until the ominous toll has mounted into the hundreds.

U. S. Very Patient

"The government of the United States has been very patient. At every stage of this distressing experience of tragedy after tragedy it has sought to be governed by the most thoughtful consideration of the extraordinary circumstances of an unprecedented war and to be guided by sentiments of very genuine friendship for the people and government of Germany. It has accepted the successive explanations and assurances of the imperial government as of course given in entire sincerity and good faith and has hoped, even against hope, that it would prove to be possible for the imperial government so to order and control the acts of its naval commanders as to square its policy with the recognized principles of humanity as embodied in the law of nations. It has made every allowance for unprecedented conditions and has been willing to wait until the facts became unmistakable and were susceptible of only one interpretation.

"It now owes it to a just regard for its own rights to say to the imperial government that that time has come. It has become painfully evident to it that the position which it took at the very outset is inevitable, namely, the use of submarines for destruction of an enemy's commerce, is, of necessity, because of the very character of the vessels employed and the very methods of attack which their employment of course involves, utterly incompatible with the principles of humanity, the long established and incontestable rights of neutrals, and the sacred immunity of non-combatants.

"If it is still the purpose of the imperial government to prosecute relentlessly and indiscriminate warfare against vessels of commerce by the use of submarines without regard to what the government of the United States must consider the sacred and indisputable rules of international law and the universally recognized dictates of humanity, the government of the United States is at last forced to the conclusion that there is but one course it can pursue. Unless the imperial government should now immediately declare and effect an abandonment of its present methods of submarine warfare against passenger and freight carrying vessels, the government of the United States can have no choice but to sever diplomatic relations with the German empire altogether. This action the government of the United States contemplates with the greatest reluctance, but feels constrained to take in behalf of humanity and the rights of neutral nations. (Signed) "LANSEING."

The Sussex Case

The summarized statements of the facts on the Sussex case accompanying the note included:

Sussex regularly employed in channel passenger service same as for years; left Folkestone for Dieppe 1:25 p. m., March 24; 325 passengers, 53 crew; 25 American citizens aboard, many women and children; carried no armament; never employed as troop ship; did not follow troop ship route; weather clear; sea smooth.

When thirteen miles from Dunquerque captain saw wake of torpedo; torpedo struck hull, exploded, destroyed forward part of vessel; killed or injured eighty persons. No other vessel in sight on affidavits of Samuel M. Bemis, T. W. Culbertson, John H. Herley, United Press staff correspondent, and other American passengers.

Approach of torpedo seen by Samuel F. Bemis, Henry S. Roar and Gertrude Warren, Americans, according to affidavits. Lieutenant Smith, U. S. N., and Major Logan, U. S. A., examined hull, found fifteen pieces of metal, marked same as German markings on other torpedoes; hull showed exterior explosion, same officers assert.

There can be no reasonable doubt that the Sussex was torpedoed and that the torpedo was of German manufacture. Conclusions substantiated by statements of imperial government's note of April 10, 1916, reporting a German submarine torpedoed a steamer exactly in the course taken by the Sussex.

Foreign Markets

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, April 20.—The stock market opened active and higher today, war stocks taking the lead. Railroads also showed gains.

Baldwin Locomotive was up 1 at 89, Crucible gained to 83, Mexican Petroleum ½ to 100 and U. S. Steel was up ¼ at 81½.

Trading was quiet during the first hour. There was little selling pressure evident, and no pronounced rush to cover. Stocks were quickly absorbed, and though the general tendency was upward, the advances were only fractional.

A break in Industrial Alcohol from 149 to 141½ furnished almost the only price movements of note during the early afternoon. Distillers lost a point but the weakness spread no further. Prices were firm and trading quiet at 2 o'clock.

The market closed reactionary.

RAIL COMMISSION FINISHES—ERICKSON READY TO RESIGN

MADISON, Wis., April 20.—(Special.)—Upwards of forty decisions of the railroad commission have been completed in the past few days. This has been necessitated by reason of the fact that Chairman Halford Erickson is to leave the commission this week. Erickson planned a meeting with Governor Philipp this afternoon for the formal tendering of the resignation. The governor has known, however, for some time that the resignation was to be presented and it is said suggested that if there was some delay it might give a better opportunity to look the field over. As practically all of the decisions of the commission were signed today, Commissioner Erickson arranged for an interview with the governor this afternoon. At least a score of people have been mentioned as probably available for the position.

and September up 5-8c at $1.12. Corn was almost unchanged. Selling by a leading broker was a factor. May and September were unchanged, the former selling at 75 7-8c and the latter at 76 1-8c. July was down 1-8c at 76 5-8c.

Oats followed the same trend as the wheat market. Weather conditions were ideal. May was up 3-8c at 45 1-4c; July up 1-8c at 43c; September up 1-4c at 39 3-4c.

Provisions were unchanged.

RAILROAD BUYS TOUGH'S HANGOUT FOR ROUNDHOUSE

BELOIT, Wis., April 20.—The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad today purchased "The Willows" in South Beloit, long known as one of the greatest hang-outs for hoboes and criminals in Wisconsin, from Mrs. Mary Kelley, for $7,000. The railroad will build a six stall roundhouse on the property. It is believed that this is done in anticipation of legislation which will shorten the hours of trainmen. The length of the Racine and Southwest division from Milwaukee to Savannah is 158 miles and it is stated that this will be cut in two with the division point being made at Beloit.

FORECAST VICTORY FOR HAY MEASURE

WASHINGTON, April 20.—A substantial victory for the Hay military bill over the Chamberlain measure was seen forecast today by many senate leaders by the triumph of the lower house in the sugar tariff controversy. Although the senate had the spoken support of President Wilson in its stand for a suspension, instead of a repeal of the free sugar provision of the Underwood bill, the house proved in conference the dominant branch. Conference began today on two military bills between Chamberlain, Hitchcock of Nebraska, and Dupont of Delaware for the senate and Hay, Dent of Alabama, and Kahn of California for the house.

MINIATURE FIELD MEET SETS GOOD MARKS AT NORMAL

A miniature field meet was held at the normal school last night to enable the normal mentor to get a line on what his men can do when really pressed by competition. Although the season is still young, the showing last night was satisfactory, although there is room for development before the meets are due.

A few record breaking marks were made yesterday. Captain Taylor, holder of the state title in the shot put with 35.8 feet, is already heaving it thirty-seven feet, and with the development that comes with the warmer weather he feels sure that the ball will fall at least a foot farther. Taylor has been throwing the discus about 109 feet, which is but two feet from the state record, also held by himself.
In the runs last night Ryan without much exertion made the 440 in fifty-six seconds, while his state record is fifty-four. Gensmann almost came up to this mark, although he is a new man in track athletics. Renner made the low hurdles in thirty-one flat, which looks like point winning in the state meet with the proper training. In the high hurdles "Hap" Bechtold clipped the standards in nineteen.
Most competition has been manifested in the mile run at the normal this year. With all the old men graduated and with nine men out at present, some keen competition is being experienced. Last night Walker won the endurance run with the Baker brothers second and third. The time was 5:16, fifteen seconds less than it was a week ago and but four seconds away from the school record which was made by Youngberg last year. The present time will probably be cut considerably before the end of the season.
No jumping was tried last night. Meinert has been making five feet two in the high jump without exerting himself. Adair has not tried jumping for height as he has been busy developing an entirely new form for going over the pole.
Grausnick was unable to take part in the runs last night because of his injured foot. The fact that Dr. Sputh announced that the track team this year will be provided with shoes is making the men work even harder than they would otherwise.
Beginning this morning normal men began work on the normal fields. Money has been secured and normal track men have been hired to do the improving. The coach is thereby keeping his men in condition over vacation and getting the work done as well. A 120 yard straightaway will be made on the normal track, the base ball backstop will be removed, and the track will be re-cindered as part of the improvements.

KONEY GETS TWO HITS BUT PITCHERS THROW THE GAME

Boston Outslugs Champs 11 to 10; Brooklyn Wins the First Game from McGraw Clan

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 20.—Wildness on the part of Boston's pitchers proved very costly on Wednesday, the home players hitting the ball hard after batsmen had been given passes. Philadelphia winning by 6 to 5. Konetchy hit twice in four times at bat, one of his bingles being a double. Bender made his first appearance as a National league pitcher and prevented Boston from scoring. Score:

LISTEN TO WHAT THE SAILORS SAY.

I'VE BOUGHT TOBACCO AT EVERY PORT, AND THE REAL TOBACCO CHEW BEATS 'EM ALL.

THAT'S RIGHT—A LITTLE CHEW GIVES FULL SATISFACTION.

DID YOU GET THAT?

YES—W-B CUT LASTS LONGER THAN A BUNCH OF ORDINARY TOBACCO.

SAILORS are not the only critical judges of chewing tobacco. Real tobacco satisfaction didn't hit some men until they heard of W-B CUT Chewing—the long shred Real Tobacco Chew—and now it's nothing but W-B CUT Chewing for them. Give W-B CUT Chewing a quality test yourself. Take a small chew—and notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste. Made by WEYMAN-BRUTON COMPANY, 50 Union Square, New York City

ROTH ANNOUNCES HIS LINEUP FOR OPENING TUSSLE

Three days must elapse before La Crosse fans will hear the call of "Play Ball" at league park when the Nelsons and Athletics mix in the first game of the season. But Manager "Bob" Roth of the Nelsons has his lineup ready and he says the men will be played exactly as he has done it out in advance.
Here is Bob's probable lineup:
Woll, first base; Kabat, second base; Meinert, third base; Smith, shortstop; Beranek, left field; J. Fuchs, center field; E. Fuchs, right field; Childers or Satek, catchers; Stokles, Fitzki, Denomie or King, pitcher.
There will be many new faces in the team. The Fuchs brothers played with the Champion Clothiers last year as did Fitzki. Satek was with the Athletics.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

Yesterday's homers: "Happy" Felsch of the White Sox, off Weillman of the St. Louis Browns, in the third.
Look at who's leading Ban Johnson's league. The New York Yankees. And they used a Texas league rookie by the name of Markle to do it. He held Connie Mack's tribe to three hits.
The Braves have started sliding. They've dropped from first to third place since Monday.
The White Sox were runners-up in the American league for a few hours yesterday. The Red Sox lost in the morning but came back in the afternoon.
Joe Jackson of the White Sox was chuck full of speed. He stole two bases in the same inning but died on the third.
The Cubs have their home lot with Cleveland today, with a fifty-fifty lineup of Fed and O. B. Players.
A pessimist is a person who is already worrying about how hot it is going to be next summer.

WINS 25-MILE RUN IN 27:16:2-5

BOSTON, Mass., April 20.—Arthur V. Roth of the Dorchester club, won the twentieth annual marathon run of the Boston Athletic association yesterday afternoon, covering the 25-mile course from Ashland to Boston in two hours, 27 minutes and 16 2-5 seconds.
Villar Kyronen of the Melrose Athletic association, New York, finished second in 2:27:27.
Sidney H. Hatch of the Illinois Athletic club, third, 2:28:30.
James J. Corkery of the Sportsman's Patriotic association, Canada, was fourth in 2:30:34.
No records were broken.

SOPPING WET

PITTSBURGH, Pa., April 20.—"Probably showers" was the gob of glum handed out by the weather man to 20,000 or less fans primping up today to attend the first at-home party of Mr. H. Wagner and Pirates.

BIG CUB WHALES DAY FOR CHICAGO FANS

CHICAGO, April 20.—Charlie Weckman's amalgamated, Cubs-Whales team was all primed today for the opening this afternoon of the Cubs' local season with Garry Herrmann's Cincinnati Reds.
With anything like decent weather, the biggest crowd that ever saw a local baseball game is expected to crowd the old Federal league park. Gov. Edward F. Dunne and Mayor William Thompson, enthusiastic fans, have reserved places in the baseball parade from the Loop to the park.
"OH, HAD I THE WINGS OF A DOVE!"
BOSTON, Mass., April 20.—Just before the opening of the Braves-Dodgers game at Braves field today, six huge gas balloons will go sailing up into what promises to be a clear sky.
About this time every young and hopeful fan throughout Great Boston will begin to stretch his neck, for attached to each of the balloons will be a book of 25 admissions to Braves' field.

SPARTA MAN IS PAROLED AFTER DRAWING TERM

William Marks Sentenced to Six Months in Jail for Wife Beating Is Given Liberty

SPARTA, Wis., April 20.—(Special.)—William Marks, teamster, who went to his home on East Montgomery street in an intoxicated condition and beat his wife, was given a twenty day sentence by Justice Lamson for drunkenness, and in addition a six months' sentence for assaulting his wife.

On account of a good previous record, Marks was allowed his freedom on parole. His wages will be paid to his wife.

Professor Talks
The regular monthly business meeting of the Advancement association was held last night at the city hall. The lecture by Professor A. H. Wright, instructor of astronomy at the University of Wisconsin, and the pictures illustrating it, were given at the Royal theater. The subject of the address was "Stock Feeding and Alfalfa Raising."

Lunch and cigars were served in the city hall after the lecture.

Gets High Position
Harold K. Thurston, formerly of Sparta, but for the past three years connected with the state board of control, has been appointed as manager for the Madison General hospital.

He was educated in Sparta schools, Beloit college and at the university. He succeeds Curtis Livingston, who leaves May 1 for Chicago, where he has accepted a position as credit manager for the Ingersoll Watch company. Curtis Livingston is a son of the late John W. Livingston, a former professor of the schools of this city.

Militia in Shoot
Captain Merrill, A. Nichols, Alfred Johnson, N. Jones, H. Becker, C. V. Fitch, C. Jensen, Erickson, Jordan, Anderson, Balch, Geniesse, Alex. Nicol, S. McCance, H. E. Markham, McPeak, Friede and Summerfield were the delegation from Company L which went to Hudson Saturday to compete in the regimental shoot the following day.

The local boys shot against the teams from Company A, Neillville, and Company I, Superior. Company A, Neillville, made the highest score; Company L, Sparta, second, and Company I, Superior, took third place.

Local and Personal
The annual business meeting of the Advent Christian church will be held in the church on Friday, May 5, at 2:30, in the afternoon. All members of the church are urged to attend this meeting.

CANONS REFUSE TO ACT FOR MOVIES
ROME, April 20.—Three American "movie" operators caused the abandonment of one of the Holy Week functions in the Basilica of the vatican Tuesday after a controversy with the church canons.

The "movie" men set up their machines and prepared to make roles of films when the ceremonies began. The canons protested, but learned that Cardinal Merry Del Val had given the Americans full permission. The majority of the canons then withdrew.

Wrecked Car
CHICAGO.—Tired of standing on a corner waiting for a street car to stop, a crowd of men finally halted one by standing between the tracks and later wrecked the car.

Must Go the Whole Route.
"Gaddersley just misses being a great man." "What does that signify?" "Nothing, I suppose." "Of course it signifies nothing. There are no medals for the near-great."

Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out of this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular, free.
